9-10 September 2025

São Paulo, Brazil

INVITATION for young clinicians and researchers interested in a career in Headache to register for iHEAD 2025

The International Headache Society (IHS) is proud to sponsor the 10th International Headache Academy (iHEAD) to be held in São Paulo, Brazil, from 9th (09.00) to 10th (14.00) September 2025.

iHEAD is designed to inspire a long-term commitment to Headache in early career neurologists and research scientists via an educational programme focused on clinical and research aspects of Headache Medicine. It is our goal to develop and mentor future leaders in the field.

This 1.5-day programme will offer a highly interactive and intensive overview of Headache including pathophysiology, diagnosis, and management of migraine, cluster headache and related primary headache disorders. In addition, there will be a number of lectures and practical workshops on clinical trial methodology, biostatistics, manuscript preparation and publication, presentation skills, how to deal with the media, and animal and human headache research methodology.

We are targeting Neurology residents, Headache Medicine fellows and MD and/or PhD clinicians/researchers currently enrolled or within 10 years of having completed their training. Candidates can have attended no more than one (1) previous iHEAD.

Registration is free of charge; flights will be booked by the congress organisers. A stipend will be offered for accommodation.
