

Report on the International Headache Society Visiting Professors Program Held in Indonesia

Visiting Professors from from the International Headache Society: Professor Mario F P Peres, MD, PhD, FACP (Brazil) and Professor Gianluca Coppola MD, PhD (Italy)

This report documents the successful organization of the 12th edition of the Jakarta Neurology Exhibition, Workshop, and Symposium, hosted annually by Universitas Indonesia. This event continues to act as a pivotal platform for advancing neurology education and fostering international collaboration within Indonesia.

A notable highlight of this year's event was the participation of esteemed professors from the International Headache Society (IHS): Professor Mario F. P. Peres from Brazil and Professor Gianluca Coppola from Italy. Their contributions as keynote speakers significantly enriched the knowledge exchange during the proceedings.

The event commenced on April 23rd with a Basic Headache Management Workshop attended by neurologists and general practitioners from various hospitals across Indonesia—the workshop aimed to provide essential knowledge on headache diagnosis and management, emphasizing evidence-based clinical approaches.

Subsequently, on the same day, a special meeting took place with the Headache Working Group of the Indonesian Neurology Association. This meeting aimed to discuss strategies for enhancing headache care services in Indonesia, utilizing insights from the IHS experts, and reinforcing collaborative efforts in clinical practice.

The symposium on April 26-27 attracted a diverse audience of more than 500 general practitioners and neurologists. It featured presentations focused on the latest research, case studies, and innovative approaches to headache treatment, fostering active discussions and networking among participants.

The final day, April 28th, concluded with a Guest Lecture at the Smart Classroom, Parasitology Department, Universitas Indonesia, Cipto Mangunkusumo Hospital. Professors Peres and Coppola delivered lectures on “Migraine Pathophysiology” and “Building and Managing a Headache Clinic: From Academic to Practice.” These sessions offered in-depth insights into migraine mechanisms and shared practical experiences in establishing and managing headache clinics, emphasizing multidisciplinary approaches and innovation in patient care.

Organized annually by Universitas Indonesia, this event remains an essential platform for expanding neurology education and promoting international cooperation. We extend our sincere appreciation to the International Headache Society for their support, which has been instrumental in the success of this event and in strengthening the global network of headache specialists and neurologists in Indonesia.

We trust that this report accurately reflects the significance of the event and the valuable contributions from the IHS, paving the way for ongoing collaboration in the future.
